Hello Paul,

We don't have any flight plans filed for N14UC, but we have a couple of pilots who have that aircraft listed in their app. One of the pilots had entered routes departing KHMT on the 25th into ForeFlight Mobile, and based on published reports of the pilot involved in the accident: [REDACTED], it appears to be a match.

He had not requested any weather briefings for N14UC, nor had he viewed any static weather imagery in the app prior to the flight.

On the 25th he viewed the following airports; we do not record whether he was accessing any weather information on those airports, or if he was looking up other information about the airports.
