Hi Paul,

Thanks for your patience on all of these - I'm finally unearthing myself from everything that built-up during AirVenture.

The [REDACTED] account does have N4340C in it, however no flight plans had been filed through the account for the flight in question.

Prior to the flight the following routes were entered into the app:

There was no Weather Imagery viewed prior to the flight, nor was any Airport information viewed immediately prior to the flight.

There are some Logbook entries that we could disclose if the IIC requests them.

Best regards,
