Hi Ed. Here it is. My time stamp said 3:14 PM CST. The video was taken from the front steps on the Pacific War Museum on Austin St. probably seconds before the crash. The aircraft was flying south at approx. 400 ft. agl. Even if he would have run out of fuel or something, I still can't imagine why he couldn't have made it past those apartments on Friendship Lane at that speed. Hope this helps. God Bless.
