Narrative:

During a conversation, the pilot's family members stated he was in good health and had not flown the airplane too much lately due to maintenance issues. The pilot owned two other airplanes and the family was unsure what the pilot would do while spending time at the hangar. A mechanic friend had recently passed away who often assisted the pilot on any maintenance issues.

The pilot's son stated his dad was a mechanic and had been troubleshooting an unspecified fuel system problem with the left engine. In addition, the son stated that the accident flight was a test flight after his dad had done something to the airplane.
