

My name is Jason Barham, I'm employed as the ground loading crew for Old River Flying Service.

On Sunday 25th July 2021 at around just before 8AM I witnessed what looked exactly like a normal take-off from my standpoint. The plane was straight and lined up with the runway and was heading down the runway for take-off. The tail was already up in the air when I noticed the plane starting to veer suddenly. The nose was lifted and the plane came off the ground, at this point it seemed too late to clear the ensuing embankment and it hit the embankment. The plane proceeded to pitch nose up and do a front flip from the collision and land upside down and skid across a field.
