Date 08/05/2022.

Name of the person contacted: Jerell Alexander ([REDACTED]).

Subject: Aircraft Accident N619RB R44

I called Mr. Alexander about an aircraft accident that occurred near Maynard, Iowa. Mr. Alexander indicated he was the pilot of N619RB a Robinson 44 helicopter and was spraying a field he indicated he felt a gust of wind while turning which resulted in a loss of altitude. He said he landed safely in a corn field after clipping a power line. He indicated after inspecting the aircraft there wasn't a lot of major damage besides the Tail Rotor separating from the aircraft and the aft tail being damaged. I asked Mr. Alexander If the aircraft was operating normally before striking the power line. He indicated mechanically if was operating normally.
