As I approach the plane to wait for the door to be release and opened. Im standing by the gate bridge. As the door starts to open, I start to walk towards the plane. I notice as the door opens the flight Attendant was holding on the the rails to lower them because the pins were not inserted properly. As she is trying to lower the rails the weight of the rails pulled her out of the plane and she came out of the plane head first down the steps and on the concrete. I, Kimberly Pierce helped wing walk in flight #3145 from ABC. Once the aircraft stopped I walked from the #1st officer side to the Pilot side to open the bin for waist bags. I looked over to my left and seen Jeff waiting for the door to open so he can remove the pins; but out of my left peripheral I saw someone fly out of the door and hit the ramp fence first. When I turned I saw that it was a Skywest flight attendant. Jeff and I walked toward her where she laid motionless for a few minutes. Jeff and another employee held her head and telling her not to move. I yelled to the gate agent to call the Paramedics. I heard Jeff yell to get a manager and help. Everyone tried to help as much as possible.
