Subject: Telephone Conversation with the Recovery Company

The recovery company was asked if they had recovered an airplane in March of 2013. A representative of the company said they had recovered it from the pine trees.

The representative for the recovery company was asked if they could recall if there was any fuel in the fuel tanks. The representative reported that there was a strong smell of fuel on scene; however, the fuel tanks had been breached and the remaining portion of the tank was devoid of fuel. The representative further stated that the airplane had been sold by the insurance company and was no longer at the facility.
