Hi Mr. Cox,

To answer your questions:

- 1) I do not think the glider would have hit the Piper without the bounce. I believe the bounce caused the change in course, veering the glider toward the parked Piper.
- 2) The Piper was in line with, but not adjacent to, other aircraft on the side of the runway.
- 3) The Piper was parked to the side of the runway, not on the runway.

Please let me know if there are any other questions/clarifications.

I will have sporadic internet/phone access next week, but will do my best to respond promptly.

Thank you

Sharona
