Bob

I have not got that zip file yet to work, but I will. But to answer your questions.

1. The engine was check on 12/06/2015
2. On 21/06/2015 the engine was started and run great, mags check OK.
3. The Student pilot quoted it had approximately 34 gallons on board. We ran the numbers base on his training that day and he could have had 5 to 9 gallons left But failed to switch to the fullest tank. Both pilots admitted that they did not switch tanks after the engine quit. One even when asked what happen he said we ran out of gas.
