

Photo 1 – NTSB Digital Photograph. View Looking to the West, taken East of the Eastern Most Airplane Debris

Photo 2 – NTSB Digital Photograph. View Looking to the West Showing Airplane Wreckage Among Treeline

Photo 3 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Looking West Showing Wreckage Among the Trees

Photo 4 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View of the Empennage. Note the Heat Damage to the Ground Area Adjacent to the Empennage

Photo 5 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View of the Heat Damaged Fuselage and Partial View of the Right Wing Spar

Photo 6 - NTSB Digital Photograph. Another View of the Heat Damaged Fuselage

Photo 7 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Looking Towards the East and a Portion of the Fuselage to the Right and Wreckage in the Background.

Photo 8 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View of the Cockpit Area of the Fuselage. Note the Minimal Distortion of the Occupiable Space

Photo 9 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Looking towards the Northwest Showing the Large Open Field Adjacent to the Accident Site Area.

Photo 10 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Depicting the Recovered Tree Limbs of Various Diameters and Trunk That Exhibited Cut Surfaces Consistent with Propeller Blade Contact

Photo 11 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Depicting the Cut Surface With Gray Transfer of 7 Inch Diameter Tree Trunk

Photo 12 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Depicting the Propeller and Reduction Gearbox

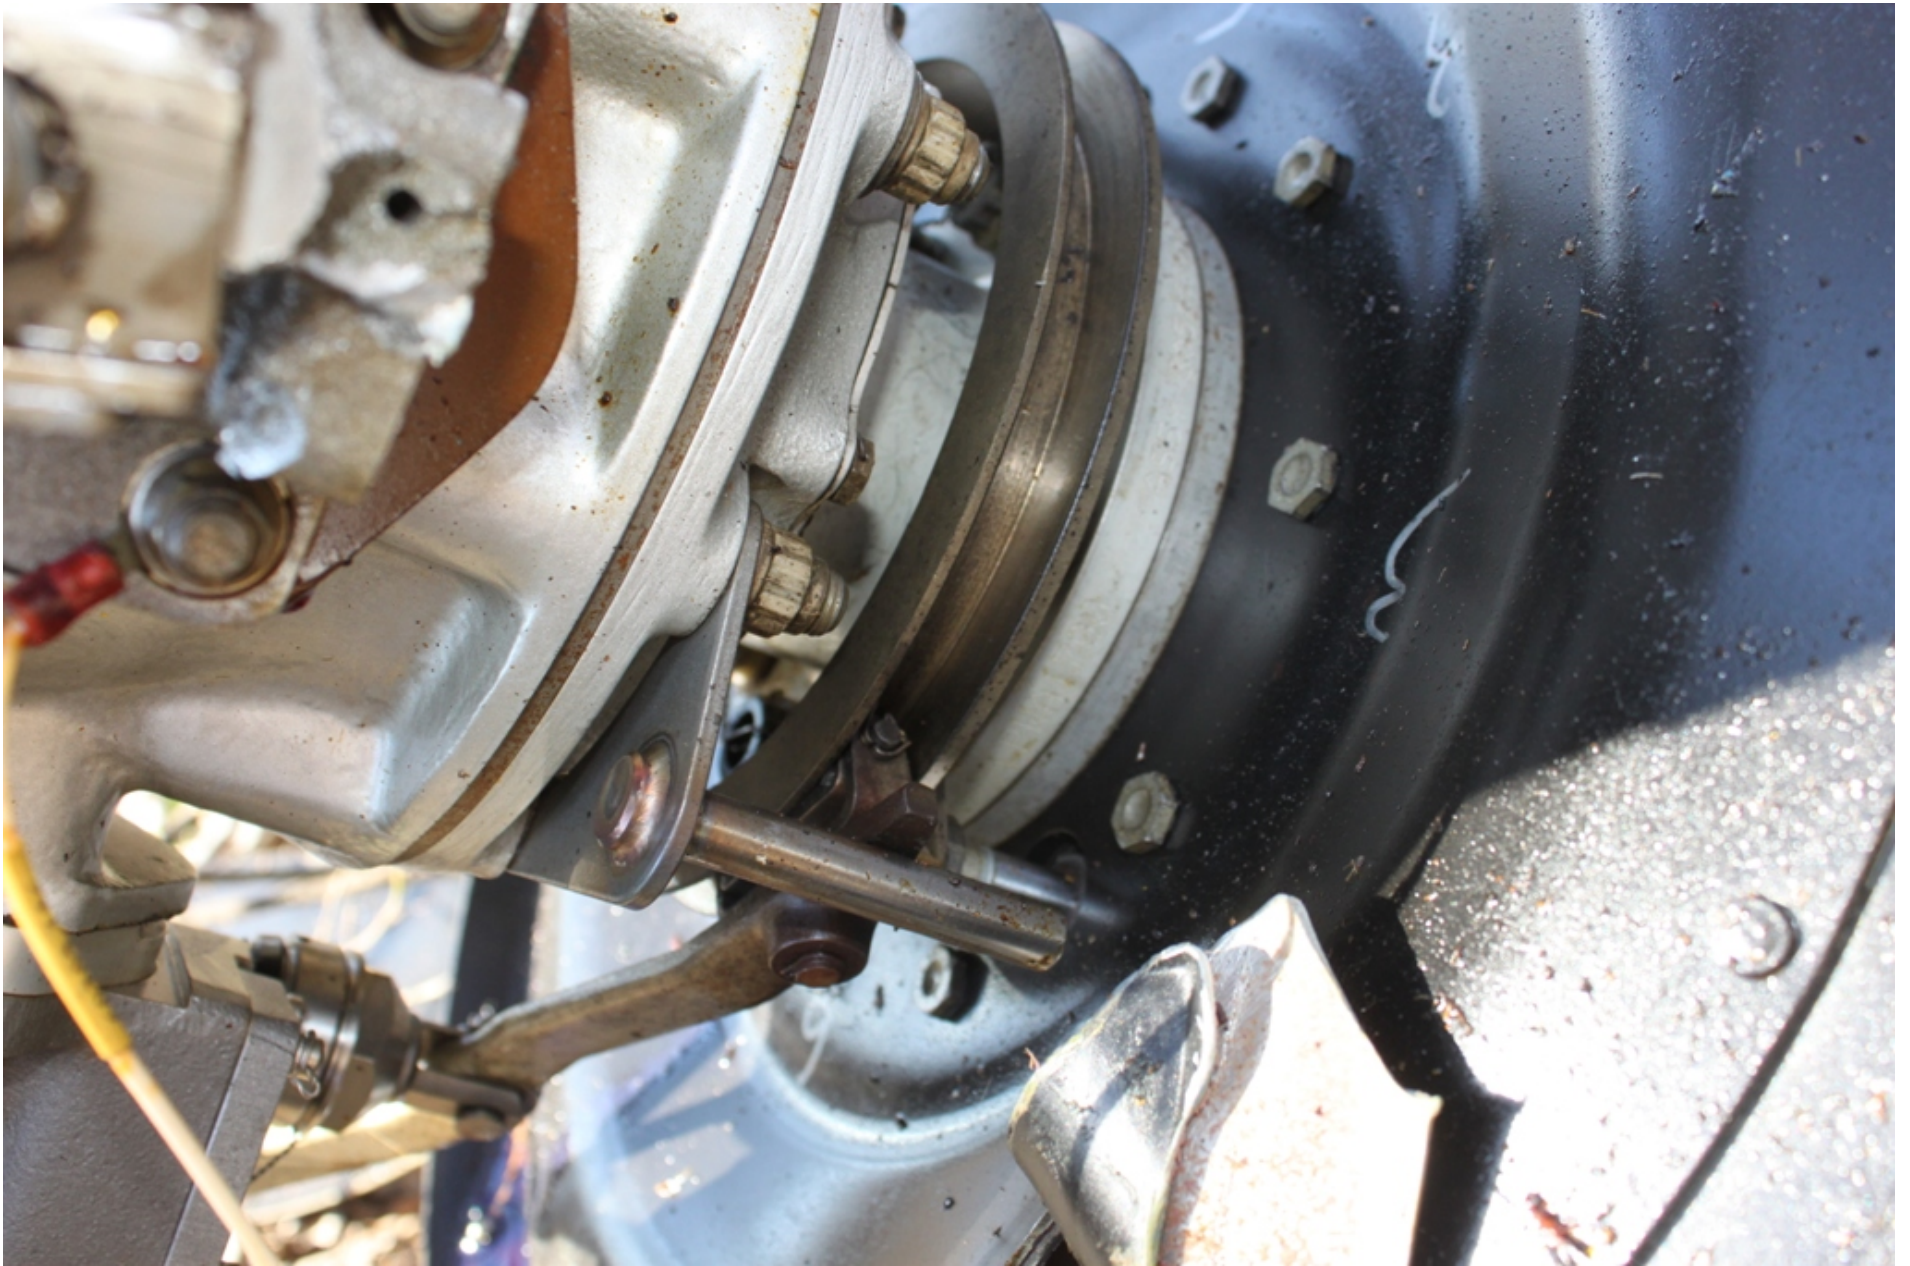

Photo 13 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Depicting the Beta Block In Proper Relation to the Guide Pin

Photo 14 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View Depicting the Engine Assembly

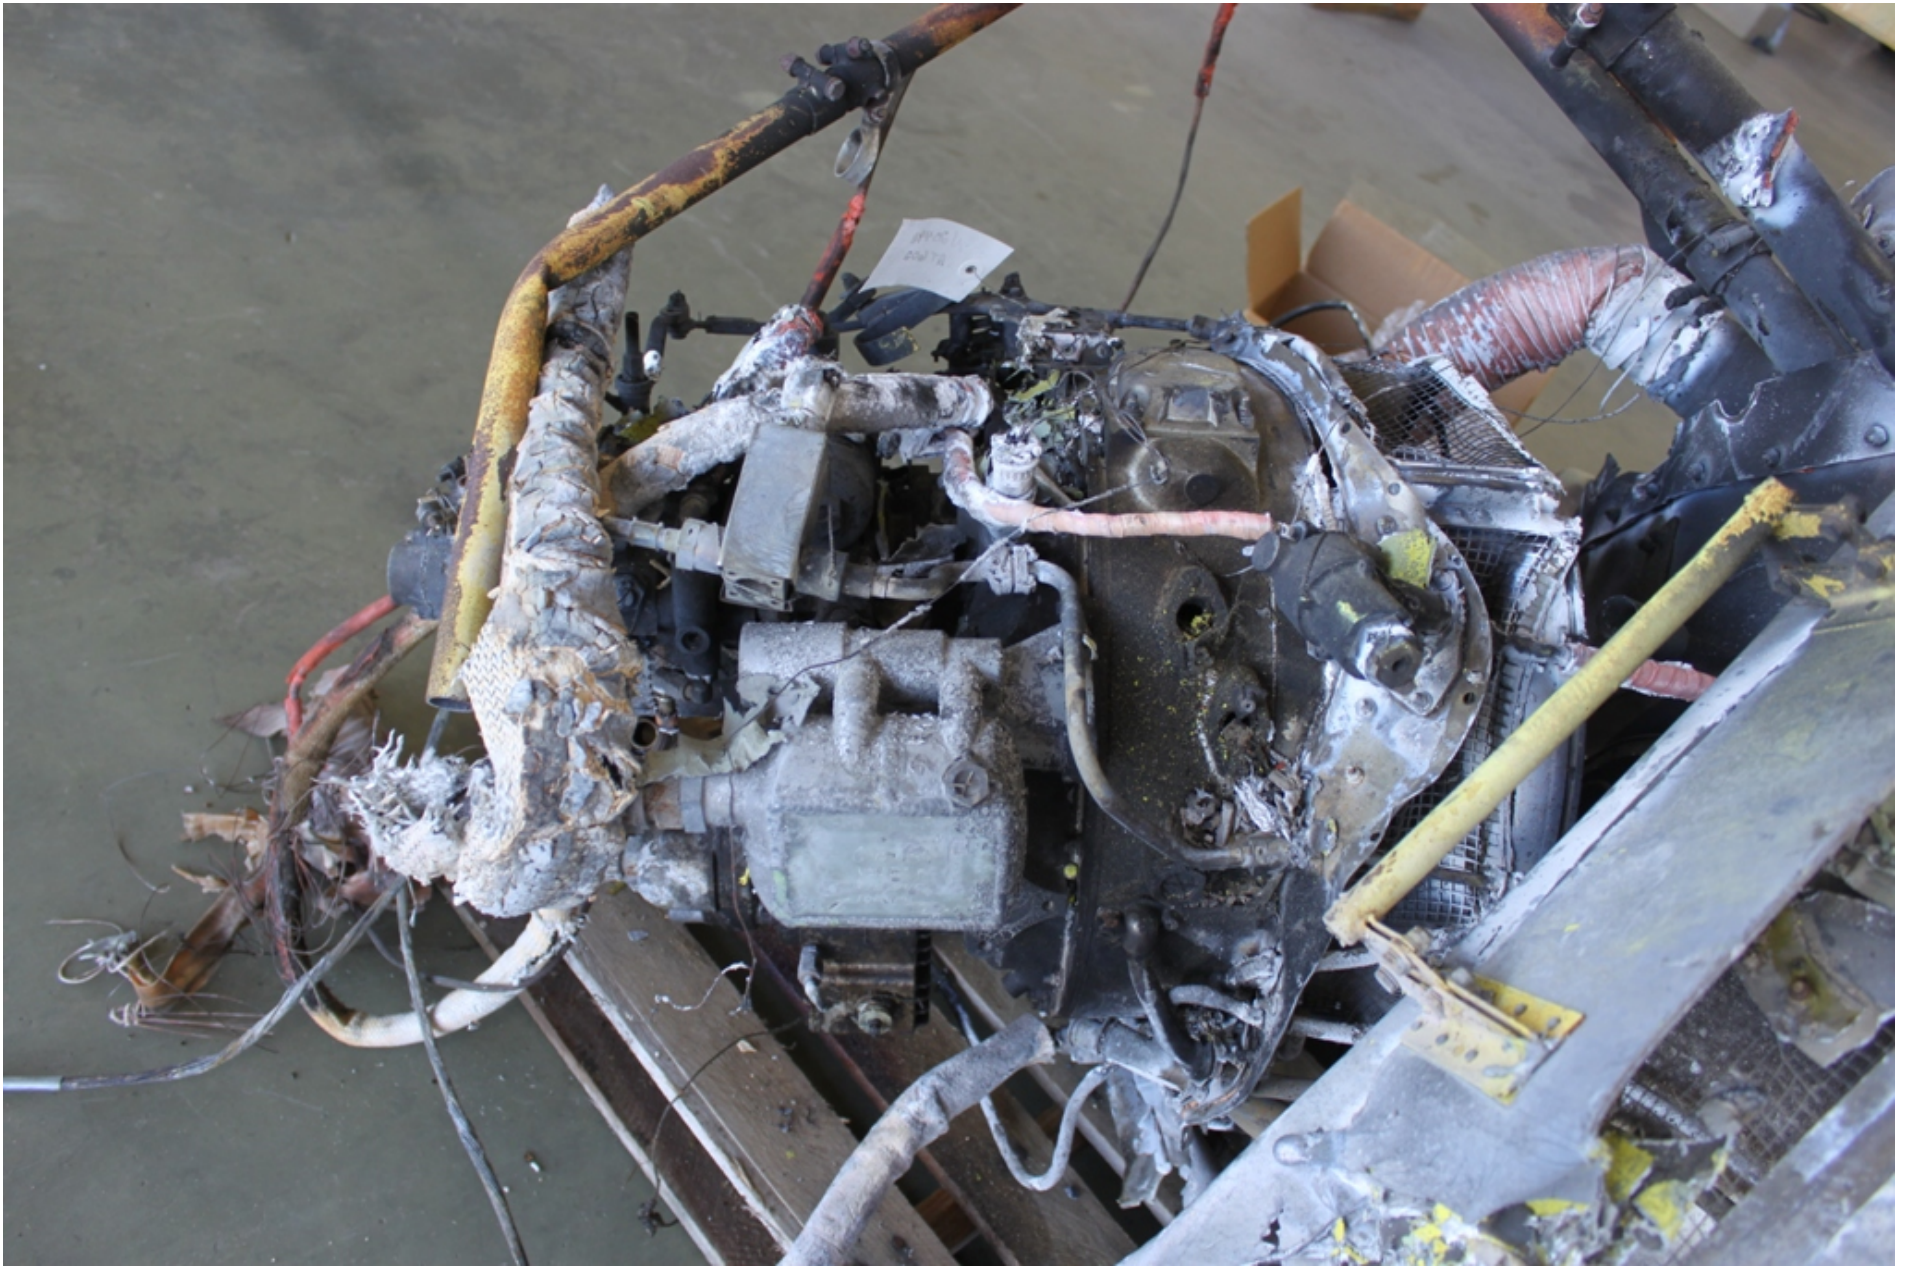

Photo 15 - NTSB Digital Photograph. Another View Depicting the Engine Assembly. Note the Heat Damage to the Hoses and Accessories

Photo 16 - NTSB Digital Photograph. Close-Up View of the Downstream Side of the Compressor Turbine. Note the Circumferential Damage to the Disk and Blades

Photo 17 - NTSB Digital Photograph. Close-Up View of the 1st Stage Power Turbine. Note the Impacted Earth.

Photo 18 - NTSB Digital Photograph. View of the Propeller. Note the Blade Bending