

Figure 1 Google Earth image of wreckage diagram

The pilot departed from his private grass strip orientated on a 330° magnetic heading, depicted by the red line. The white arrow shows the direction of takeoff. The yellow pin, N50130, indicates where the powered parachute came to rest underneath the powerlines.