Hi my name is Cameron Milliner and on the morning of August 25th me and a fellow student located the Piper Arrow on the ramp of the Monroe airport (keqy) with a a slight hole in the wing and from the hole in the wing all the way to the tip the wing appeared to almost be crumpled up to an extent. The previous morning me and the same student flew the plane with no complications and did a post flight and the plane had zero damage so it had to of occurred sometime after that flight and Friday morning. I hope this account helps with figuring out what happened to the plane. Thank you and have a blessed day.
