RE: N900DT accident 8/28/2020

Dear Mr. Monville:

According to our records, the above referenced aircraft DID NOT obtain fuel from Pompano Aviation LLC on August 28, 2020. Our first fuel sale on that day occurred at 4:45 p.m. I printed all transactions from 8/23/2020 to 8/31/2020 from our self-serve QT terminal and attached them.

We do not track tail numbers, only credit card name. I do not recognize any transactions during that period with the company name or pilot's name the have been disclosed by the media involved in the accident.

From the videos, I previously sent to you, you can see the run up from the 821 building's camera #2. If you zoom in whey they taxi out, you may be able to make out the pilot/copilot faces. Camera #1 shows them taxiing out to Runway 15. The only other public fueling source at KPMP is Sheltair. They have self-serve and full-service fuel available. To get to Sheltair's fuel at their self-serve, they would have to turn right on Taxiway Kilo, which they did not. The Ramp to Sheltair's main terminal would also require a right turn on Taxiway Kilo. See attached aerial from Pompano Aviation Properties.

Yesterday there was a comment about the accident on Beechtalk regarding the top off of AC500's. The fuel siphons in to the main bladder at a very slow rate. This could make the fueler think it was full prior to the fuel settling properly.

The IS that works on my plane also has extensive knowledge of the AV 500 and has maintained one at KPMP for 15 years. His name is Jeff Muharsky and his cell phone number is 954-258-5282.

All the best,
Pompano Aviation, LLC
