I noticed a piper take off about 2:29 Am. The airport had a low cloud cover. He returned back to the airport to attempt a landing. Jeff tried to help him over the radio. I noticed the plane engine making popping noises. He circled the airport trying to make a visual. He came around the end of runway 5 and made a slight dive. He then climbed and made a turn to the left. The plane lost speed and altitude and crashed into the trees on east side of the airport. He went unresponsive when we arrived. Gus and I eventually pulled him from the flaming wreckage.
