My student, Eric Crawford was coming in to land on runway 05 at winder (KWDR). I watched as he was descending on final. He rounded out the decent and touched down. Upon touchdown it appeared as if the nose went side to side a little indicating his attempt at maintaining centerline. I saw him start to drift left of centerline and head toward the grass. I heard him add power and saw him attempt to go around. His wing struck a taxiway sign and I saw the plane tip forward striking the nose and "cart wheel" over and come to rest with the tail on a fence of the Guard Unit next to taxiway Delta. I ran from the ramp where I was observing his solo to the plane and arrived to see the canopy open and Eric climbing out. Members from the Guard unit got there before me. Eric confirmed he was ok and we walked away from the plane.
