Subject: NTSB investigation ERA21LA348, N76596, Cessna 140, July 25, 2021, Bloomsburg Municipal Airport (N13), Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania. Information provided by FAA Inspector

On August 26, 2021, Mr. Timothy Kelley, FAA Inspector from the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania Flight Standards District Office, provided the following information via telephone:

The pilot had initially contacted his insurance company and was informed that the event did not qualify as a reportable accident.

The pilot had recently purchased the airplane and was flying with an instructor to meet his insurance company's initial requirements for dual instruction. The flight instructor reported that the landing was normal, and during rollout he instructed the pilot to apply the brakes, after which, the airplane veered right, then left, then departed the runway down an embankment. The outboard 3 ft of the right wing was bent upward, and the fuselage was damaged at the right main landing gear leg attachment point.
