my husband and I were driving down 142, I looked up and saw a plane decending and slightly sideways. I told my husband it didnt look right and it nose dived quickly into the General Mills area. We pulled up and my husband ran to the crash scene. There was a fence preventing him from getting to the crash. Shortly after there were a few explosions. I called 911 immediately when it nose dived.

Statement;

Me and My Mother were traveling North on 142
and we saw an older large plane that began to tilt to one side.

I realized it was going down. I actually thought it was going to crash on 142.

We turned into the General Mills entrance and I ran with another man "Roger" to see if we could help.

We arrived to hear what sounded like people in pain moaning. It was so engulfed in flames
we ran back.

The flames were too much to do anything.
The fire + EMS arrived.

I swear the above statement is true under penalty of law.
