Subject: E-mailed statement from passenger Stabile to FAA Inspector Carreau.¹

On Sunday, July 17, 2022 just after 8 PM upon returning from a quick 10 minute flight we went to land and as soon as the tires touched the ground the plane yanked to the left 90 degrees. This happened instantaneously. Bill immediately hit the throttle and tried to pull up. The plane did not climb it fell in the direction of travel. The wing seemed to keep the plane from flipping but it tried to multiple times. It was very violent and slammed to the ground a few times possibly from the wing javelining into the ground. After 3-4 hard hits we came to a rest. Bill had a bad cut to his head and was dazed. I quickly got out and helped him out as well as I was afraid of fire but did not see any. As soon as people started to arrive I walked to the other side of the field to be with my young son who watched it all. I was checked out thoroughly by EMT's after and declined a trip to the hospital. My ribs are sore all over and I have a hematoma on my right leg from my keys being shoved into me.

Any other questions please give me a call. I am still working full time while healing so forgive any delay in response. It was very nice speaking with you yesterday and I look forward to hearing from you again.

Steven
