Contact: Correlation of Flight Data Information from Surviving Passenger and Google Earth Plotting

As described by the passenger, after takeoff from First Flight Airport, (FFA), Kill Devil Hills, North Carolina, the flight proceeded north, orbited a house twice, then proceeded south flying about 400 yards offshore¹. Plotting of the house orbit location in reference to the departure airport, the weight-shift control aircraft flew north about 21 nautical miles before turning south to return to FFA (Figure 1).
