Joshua was asked if there was any recent maintenance on the airplane and he replied "not since the annual". He was asked when the annual was, but he was unsure of the date. Joshua stated that he flies almost weekly and that he has not had any braking problems.

Joshua was asked to describe the damage to the airplane. In addition to the twisting and damage to the tail, he described damage to the wings in the form of holes and "movement of the skin" between the cowling and the windscreen.
