Narrative History of flight (N67404)

On 6/14/2018 around 0950 Central local time, Mr. Zixuan (Karl) Peng had an accident during his first Solo flight at North Texas Regional /Perrin Field (KGYI) airport.

Prior to this event, Mr. Peng flew with his instructor on 6/14/2018 around 0800 Central local time Ryan Hobbs for about 0.8 hours to practice and review pre-solo operations. During that training, they reviewed three stop-and-goes and one full stop. According to his instructor, the first lap around the pattern was fine aside from drifting towards the runway a little in the downwind. During his first landing with his instructor, Mr. Peng approached a little fast and floated a little but his flare was fine. The second lap had no problems and his flare was fine. The third lap was fine again, according to his instructor Mr. Peng approached a little fast again but his flare and touch down was fine. During his pre-solo warm-up, Mr. Peng landings were not hard nor unsafe.

After completing his dual flight, Mr. Peng attempted to complete his lesson 21 for his initial Solo flight on 6/14/2018. Mr. Peng performed his first two landings successfully but during his third landing he bounced hard, broke nose landing gear, hit the propeller, and dragged the airplane on the runway until this (airplane) ended on a nose up/tail up position while resting on left wingtip.

According to Mr. Peng, what led to this landing had to do with an increase of crosswind from his right side. He says that his airplane suddenly turned to the left, and then touched the ground. He also says that the airplane bounced hard the first time, then he tried to hold attitude but the airplane bounced again. During his second bounce, Mr. Peng thinks his nose gear had collapsed. During the airplane's third contact with the ground, the propeller hit the ground and the airplane skidded on the runway until it ended in a nose down/tail up position.

Mr. Peng used ground and tower services during his flight. As stated before, the occurrence happened at North Texas Regional Airport/ Perrin Field. The intentions of the flight were to accomplish Mr. Peng's initial Solo flight. All this happened in the morning 06/14/2018 between 0800 and 1000 Central Local time.
