According to pilot on the day of the accident, he departed his home base airport KFDK and flew over to pick up his instructor at KJYO. They departed KJYO on an instructional flight to conduct commercial maneuvers. After the training flight he dropped off his instructor and returned home. While landing at KFDK he said that he landed hard on the nose wheel and the nose gear broke. The airplane bounced a few times before coming to a complete stop on runway 5. The pilot exited the airplane and waited for emergency services. The pilot was uninjured during this event.
