Subject: San Antonio Heights Airplane Crash 11-22-16

I live in north Upland, one block south of San Antonio Heights. This morning, sometime before daylight, I was awakened by a small airplane flying over or very near my house. It sounded to be flying at an unusually low altitude for the area such that I remember thinking it was about to hit something. The engine sounded as though it was operating normally and was generating power at or near a full throttle setting. After the plane flew by I went back to sleep without looking to see what time it was. I heard no collision.

I am a certificated pilot: Single Engine Land and Multi-Engine Land. I no longer fly, but used to regularly fly a Piper PA-28 based at Cable Airport in Upland, California.
