This is an explanation of a flight accident that happened on 11/7/2017 involving a helicopter that was being flown by myself, Brad Holcomb, and operated by Provine Helicopters.

On this morning about 9 AM I was spraying the steel bayou river north of Grace, Ms. Almost finishing the load I was carrying, estimated 20 gallons remaining, I suddenly felt the aircraft yaw to the right and then go left, I remember nosing the aircraft up and to the right to get out of the river and clear the line of trees on the bank. At treetop height I remember glancing at my N2 and knowing my speed was low I held collective down as much as possible to start my auto knowing the impact was going to be severe I pulled full collective just at the time the skids hit the ground.
