Good Luck and Happy flying. Send me a pic of your plan sometime and come down and fly with us, We are working on another Rans in my hanger and that one should be up and flying mid next month. As I said before once you get transitioned into Her your gonna Love flying it. Just a few notable differences specific to this airplane and once you're used to them, you'll forget there even there. I don't notice the heavy right rudder I use anymore on takeoff, almost forgot I even apply it. You will notice it more as a single seater, and I rarely fly single seat it seems these day. Have Fun.
