NTSB Accident Number: WPR19LA078

I spoke with the pilot's wife during the follow-up examination of the airplane. She stated that the accident flight was the pilot's third flight in the airplane and had flown a total of about 25 minutes in the airplane. Soon after purchasing the airplane the pilot had replace various tubing, replaced the sparkplugs and rebuilt the carburetors. She further stated that he was working out weight and balance and stability issues. He repositioned the vertical stabilizer from what the previous owner had set it and communicated with the aircraft manufacturer on the horizontal stab position.
