Gauges indicated 6-7 and 3-4 at end of flight. I did do a visual check prior to flight as is my custom, had about 9 in one (just below 10 gal tab) and 4-5 in the other at the start.

I just called Guy, he's looking for ccard info now for you.

Also, when you confirmed the 6 gallons in one tank and 2-3 in the other was that through the gauges or did you dip the tanks? I realize the latter is unlikely at the end of a flight, but I'm checking regardless.

I can reach out to Guy if you like (he's handled all financial items for Ron i think) to get it.

Aside from card # do you need anything else or info to review that?

I have all his logs between 11/7 – 10 through ADSB and he didn't stop anywhere except Byron, Cameron Park, and Davis in that timeframe. I've got one potential purchase that needs to be validated at Cameron Park, but need his CC number.

Is his father handling everything or can I go through his sister and brother in law?

Hi Stephen- I landed about 1130-1145am on 11/7 after maybe a 15-20 minute hop. I recall 6-7 gallons (usable) in 1 tank and 3-4 or so in the other upon landing.

Can you backtrack purchases through his credit card to see if there's another fuel event or does the ADSB show any other legs/destinations between 11/7-10?

Other airports we had previously gassed at together were Byron, Willows, Lampson, and Oroville.

Thanks, Wylie. It looks like he refueled on 11/9 and again on 11/10 in Davis, but the fuel computations aren't lining up with your recount of the fuel level when you landed on 11/7. He must have refueled somewhere else.

Do you remember what time you landed on 11/7?

And just to make sure I captured it right, you landed with 6 in one tank and 2-3 in the other on Saturday, 11/7, correct?

Hi Stephen-

I would think he would have some history of fueling at Cameron (we did when dual) but he also fueled at Davis and others. Always used his card when he paid.

I don't believe he flew 11/7 but think he did in days preceeding the accident.

Wiley –

I hope this email finds you well.

I'm doing fuel performance computations and am trying to backtrace any refuelings that might have taken place with the accident airplane between Saturday, November 7 (the last time you flew the airplane) and the accident.

Do you know if he ever refueled at Cameron Park?

If so did he use his credit card or one provided by you?

Did he fly on 11/7?

Thanks,

Stephen

Stephen-

Here's the latest oil sample report for 6380A along with the history. I may have had others along the way but this is the bulk of it.
