

On Tuesday, September 20th, at roughly 7:15AM I was on my way to the ARFF building to work on an ongoing landscaping project. I normally make a run around the terminal loop at the start of my shift and when I was near the ARFF building, I got out of my truck to pull a weed and while I was out, I noticed a plane that appeared to be on approach and I thought it seemed a bit low to not have their landing gear out and was coming in a bit faster than I had normally seen in the past. I thought I had seen pilots pull stunts like that before and he would probably pull his landing gear out soon; so, I turned around and continued on with my business. I pulled around the rest of the terminal loop and when I was pulling into the ARFF parking lot, I heard a bang and looked up again and saw ARFF responding and a fire blazing on the airfield.
