

Paul Rho
Air Safety Investigator
Western Pacific Region

Date: 2/13/2023

Subject: Case # WPR23LA089

Contact: Timothy Weston, the Pilot

Per the phone conversation with Timothy Weston, the pilot:

As tailwind pushed the airplane, I lifted off and touched down approximately 500 feet further down the runway. There was a rainstorm in that vicinity and the flat runway was unable to drain the water away. With no weather facility available at the airpark, I was not aware of that much amount of water present.
