Hi,

The flight logged on the day of the accident was one he did earlier in the day with my daughter in the Citabria, about 10am I think. It was not a pre-log. He then flew the c172 to Chehalis with the kids that day and got home about 4pm. He hadn't yet logged that flight. He took the c172 up again after dinner with Mike & Blaine. He hadn't yet logged that flight. Then finally he took the Citabria up again on the accident flight. He was probably going to log everything that evening when the planes were done for the day.

Hope this helps. Feel free to call tomorrow.

Roslyn

Hi Roslyn,

I hope this email finds you well. I'm writing the final report to John's accident and may need to ask you a question or two.

I've been looking through his logbook and noticed he had logged a 1.2 hr flight on the day of the accident. I apologize if we covered this when we spoke, but do you remember if he flew the Citabria before the accident flight or did he prelog the accident flight?

Thanks,

Stephen

Hi Stephen,

No, all the wreckage was disposed of at local waste transfer.

Thank you,

Roslyn

I am reaching out to see if you had disposed of the wreckage. I wanted to take a look at something.

Disregard and don't worry about it if you already have.

Thanks,
Stephen

Hi Stephen,

I have not seen John's log books yet. I would love them back for the memorial on 9/6. Can you please put them in the mail this week if you have not yet done so.

Sincerely,

Roslyn Henricks
