Phys. 12/20/2022 2nd class (Accident was a non revenue flight, To check out an ag airstrip)

I was doing a landing on an airstrip that I hadn't used in years, to check it out. Landed a little long to the north with 1 to 2mph wind from the east. The airstrip is between rows of walnut trees. I decided a little too late to do a go around. Added full throttle, Too late to stop and just not enough airspeed to fly. I was still in ground effect when I clipped a small branch that cartwheeled me to the right. I don't remember anything till I landed outside of the aircraft on something hard maybe a wing or a farm fuel tank
