The following information was provided in a general report completed by the Boise Police Department:

- On November 8, 2025, at approximately 1841 hours, [REDACTED] was the pilot of a Kitfox Series 7 airplane. While attempting to land, the airplane struck a traffic signal and crash landed at S Orchard St and W Wright St in Boise, Idaho.
- Witnesses at the accident site advised responding law enforcement officers that the pilot smelled like alcohol. Officers saw the pilot exhibited glassy, bloodshot eyes, slurred speech, appeared dazed, and emitted a strong odor of alcohol.
- After the pilot was transported to the hospital, an officer attempted to conduct field sobriety tests with the pilot, but the pilot was unable to complete them. The officer indicated the pilot showed signs of impairment during the tests.
- The officer attempted to obtain a breath sample from the pilot. The officer indicated the pilot was not cooperative, and only two valid results were obtained during six testing attempts. The results of the two valid results read a breath alcohol content of .210 and .179.
- When interviewed, the pilot told the officer that he and the passenger had flown to Idaho City, Idaho, where he had eaten lunch. He consumed two alcoholic drinks before they attempted to fly back to Boise.
